

Liverpool Mathematical Society Popular Lecture Series

<http://www.livmathssoc.org.uk/>

When Fridges Attack- Robots, Artificial Intelligence (AI) and Our Future

The speaker will explore the new opportunities this world of synthetic intelligence can create and what challenges it might raise. The talk will include some examples of AI generated MAGIC !

Peter McOwan

Professor of Computer Science

Vice Principal for Public Engagement & Student Enterprise
Queen Mary, University of London

<http://www.eecs.qmul.ac.uk/~pmco/>

Wednesday 18th March 2015

5:30PM to 6:30PM

University of Liverpool, Chadwick Building, L69 7ZF

Suitable for a general audience and in particular for Y11 pupils and above, teachers and student teachers.

Free admission to all students and members of Liverpool Mathematical Society.

Others £2.00 payable at the door.